"Branding" Students for the College Admission Process by Meredith Reynolds
 College Admissions officers review thousands of applications. Learn how to create a concise, unique descriptor of your student that will be the basis for the completion of applications, teacher and counselor recommendations in addition to formulating answers for interviews. This unifying, unique descriptor will bring the separate pieces of your student's application together into a powerful, focused message for the college admissions officers. Hand-outs will be provided. (Length 2-3 hours.) Split the cost between friends, session can accommodate 3-4 families
1138. Writing a Powerful College Essay by Meredith $700
Reynolds
Writing a Powerful College Essay by Meredith Reynolds
 Finding Your Personal-Best Topic. With the exception of interviews, the college essay is the student's only chance to speak directly with the college admissions officers. All other parts of the application reflect the judgments of others: SAT's, grades, teachers and counselors. This presentation will share a step-by-step process for students to go through on their own ending with "Your" topic, that topic describes not only "who" the student is, but also "who" the student hopes to become. Note students will not leave this session with their individual topic, but instead with a process to create it. Hand-outs will be provided.
 (Length 2-3 hours.). Split the cost with your friends, session can accommodate 3-4 families.
